Course Description:

The Massachusetts Firefighting Academy is excited to announce that the Structural Firefighting Practices program has been upgraded to include different methods of fire suppression. In an effort to keep up with the challenges that firefighters are confronted with at today's structure fires, certain aspects of interior fire attack have been addressed. This program has been developed with the experienced firefighter in mind. They will have to know ahead of time, depending on the situation, which choices to make based on training and experience. More focus has been placed on tasks such as stretching hose lines, calling for water, operating with limited personnel, water application, ventilation, self contained air management and evacuation. Prerequisites are that you must have completed either the Full-Time Recruit Program, Call/Volunteer Recruit Firefighter Training Program or a previous Structural Firefighting Practices Program. This is a live fire training program and you must have sections D and E on the second page of the application signed by your Fire Chief.
